

easyJet holds pilot recruitment roadshows at Luton and Dublin airports

easyJet is holding pilot recruitment roadshows at London Luton Airport and Dublin Airport tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday. These informal events are an opportunity for pilots of all experience levels to come and find out more about life as an easyJet pilot.

The day consists of an open forum where interested pilots can drop in and share a coffee with existing easyJet pilots, as well as hourly presentations hosted by the easyJet selection team. The presentations describe the company, the easyJet pilot experience and current/future requirements. Visitors can drop in and meet the pilots and/or attend a presentation any time between 1000hrs and 1700hrs.

The roadshows are not part of the selection process, but rather an opportunity for potential candidates to meet both the selection team and easyJet pilots to find out much more about the recruitment process and life as an easyJet pilot. easyJet is keen to encourage pilots of all experience levels to join easyJet, whether it be now or in the future.

Even if interested pilots have attended previous easyJet roadshows, they should consider attending these latest events. easyJet is an extremely dynamic company, and the roadshows are a great opportunity to find out more about recent events and the future plans of easyJet, as well as any changes in the pilot pay and conditions package.

The roadshow details are as follows:

Friday 17 November:

The Spectators Bar, next to easyland, London Luton Airport.

Visitors will need to park in the Short Term Car Park (just before the easyLand building on the left).

Saturday 18 November:

The Great Southern Hotel, Dublin Airport.

Free parking is available at the hotel. For further information about the venue visit the Hotel website at www.gsh.ie
